INTRODUCTION

Securities Market Herald is a specialized securities journal affiliated with Shenzhen Stock Exchange and published on a monthly basis. Over the past years, it has won wide recognition from securities professionals in the country. It puts the focus on analyzing and studying from the perspectives of specialists the striking phenomenon and major issues that our securities market is facing during its development. Meanwhile it is also supposed to bring readers an access to the related experience, operating rules and technology of the advanced markets in the world. With the increasing globalization of capital markets, Securities Market Herald is devoted to being a bridge between the Chinese and international securities industries.
